A GENERAL INDEX
TO HAZLITT'S HANDBOOK
AND HIS
BIBLIOGRAPHICAL COLLECTIONS
(1867—1889)

By G. J. GRAY
AUTHOR OF "A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF SIR ISAAC NEWTON," ETC.

EDITED BY W. CAREW HAZLITT

P R E F A C E.

AFTER an unexpected, but not altogether avoidable, delay, the Index to my Handbook, 1867, and to my Collections, 1876–89, which Mr. GRAY of Cambridge spontaneously offered to compile as a labour of love, is at length offered to the public, and cannot fail to prove a great boon to all who may have hereafter occasion to consult the serial descriptive Catalogues of Early English Literature published by me since 1876, in common with the Handbook itself, the repository of much useful information, which there has been no reason to supersede or repeat.

The plan on which Mr. GRAY has proceeded is unquestionably most elaborate and exhaustive, but that it errs on that side, I do not wish or mean to say; for my experience teaches me that the multiplication of entries, references, and cross-references can hardly be carried too far, looking at the manifold variety of purposes for which such a work as mine is apt to serve.

The task has been laborious and irksome, I suspect, beyond Mr. GRAY'S worst or best expectations; and he is to be warmly congratulated on having finally brought it to a satisfactory close.

I must add that for the principle and scale on which the Index is executed Mr. GRAY is alone responsible.

Here my system of periodical issues of the result of my study of the bibliographical product of the auction-rooms and of the stores of my good friends the booksellers must terminate. Whatever my future gleanings may be, they will necessarily remain in the manuscript form for my own personal use or that of my friends and fellow-labourers.

A SELECT LIST OF
Works or Editions
BY WILLIAM CAREW HAZLITT
OF THE INNER TEMPLE
CHRONOLOGICALLY ARRANGED
1860—1892.

1. History of the Venetian Republic; Its Rise, its Greatness, and its Civilisation. With Maps and Illustrations. 4 vols. 8vo. Smith, Elder, & Co. 1860.
A new edition, entirely recast, with important additions, in 3 vols. crown 8vo, is in readiness for the press.
2. Old English Jest-Books, 1525-1639. Edited with Introductions and Notes. Facsimiles. 3 vols. 12mo. 1864.
3. Remains of the Early Popular Poetry of England. With Introductions and Notes. 4 vols. 12mo. Woodcuts. 1864-66.
4. Handbook to the Early Popular, Poetical, and Dramatic Literature of Great Britain. Demy 8vo. 1867. Pp. 714 in two columns.
5. Bibliographical Collections and Notes. Three Series, with two Supplements and the Handbook, together, 6 vols. Medium 8vo. 1867-92.

These volumes comprise a full description of about 25,000 Early English books from the books themselves.

"There never was a more accurate and painstaking bibliographer than Mr. Hazlitt, nor is there any bibliography of English literature which can compete with his works. I have found from personal experience that they are absolutely necessary to the English collector."—BERNARD QUARITCH.

"This set of books is the result of more than thirty years' continuous labour, during which the author doubtless has had submitted to his notice more English book-rarities than any other bibliophile in Europe.

"Mr. W. C. Hazlitt's second series of Bibliographical Collections and Notes (Quaritch) is the result of many years' searches among rare books, tracts, ballads, and broadsides by a man whose speciality is bibliography, and who has thus produced a volume of high value. If any one will read through the fifty-four closely-printed columns relating to Charles I., or the ten and a half columns given to 'London' from 1541 to 1794, and recollect that these are only a supplement to twelve columns in Hazlitt's Handbook and five and a half in his first Collections, he will get an idea of the work involved in this book. Other like entries are 'James I.,' 'Ireland,' 'France,' 'England,' 'Elizabeth,' 'Scotland' (which has twenty-one and a half columns), and so on. As to the curiosity and rarity of the works that Mr. Hazlitt has catalogued, any one who has been for even twenty or thirty years among old books will acknowledge that the strangers to him are far more numerous than the acquaintances and friends. This second series of Collections will add to Mr. Hazlitt's well-earned reputation as a bibliographer, and should be in every real library through the English-speaking world. The only thing we desiderate in it is more of his welcome marks and names, B.M., Britwell, Lambeth, &c., to show where all the books approaching rarity are. The service that these have done in Mr. Hazlitt's former books to editors for the Early-English Text, New Shakespere, Spenser, Hunterian, and other societies, has been so great that we hope he will always say where he has seen the rare books that he makes entries of."—Academy, August 26, 1887.

"Mr. Hazlitt has done much work during the last thirty years, and some of it has been bitterly attacked; but we venture to think that the debt of gratitude which all students of Old English literature owe to him for his bibliographical collections must remain in the most enduring opinion of his labours. We would bid all readers who care for the books of the past read the practical, manly, and comprehensive introduction prefixed to this volume. It forms one of the best pleas for the study of English literature which we know; and coming close upon the important speech of Mr. John Morley, it takes up a phase of the subject not yet adequately recognised. The academic side has been put by Mr. Morley, the practical by Mr. Hazlitt: 'The England in which we dwell is one with the England which lies behind us. So far as the period which I comprehend goes, it is one country and one race; and I do not think that we should precipitately and unkindly spurn the literature which our foregoers left to us and to our descendants for ever, because it may at first sight strike us as irrelevant to our present wants and feelings. . . . The considerer of modern opinions and customs is too little addicted to retrospection. He seems to be too shy of profiting on the one hand by the counsels or suggestions, on the other by the mistakes of the men who have crossed the unrepassable line, who have dealt with the topics and problems with which we have to deal.' These are stirring and sensible words, and we should much like to see them more widely distributed than the limited issue of this volume will allow.

"It is impossible, in a short notice such as we can only give, to do justice to the contents of this work. The titles of every book or tract are given in full, having been transcribed by Mr. Hazlitt himself; and there is often appended to the entry interesting information about the condition, history, and, above all things, the present locale of the book. Such work as this requires labour, and skill, and knowledge of no ordinary kind. Now that Mr. Bradshaw is dead, there are few indeed who possess these qualities, and apparently only one who puts them at the service of his fellows. It has been often said of late that the bibliographer and indexer are more needed than the book-writer; and if this is true, as we are inclined to think it, Mr. Hazlitt's work must, in relation to the age in which it is produced, be awarded a very high place. It enables us to ascertain what has been done in English literature, and therefore ought to enable us to do our work so much the better. Almost all departments of study are now occupied as much with a reconsideration of old facts as with the discovery of new, and for this purpose such books as Mr. Hazlitt's are indispensable. We are happy to say that a competent Cambridge student has undertaken to compile an index to the four volumes of bibliography issued by Mr. Hazlitt, and that this will be published by Mr. Quaritch as soon as it is ready."—The Antiquary, April 1887.

"I very respectfully, yet with cordial pleasure, submit to such sections of the educated and reading English community in the United Kingdom, the States of America, and elsewhere, as feel an interest in that early literature, which ought to be dear to the entire English-speaking race, a Third and Final Series of my Bibliographical Collections and Notes, forming (with my Handbook), the fourth volume of my achievement in this province of research.

"The objection to the multiplication of alphabets by the sectional treatment, which I have adopted since the appearance of the Handbook in 1867, is a very valid objection indeed from the point of view of the consulter. But as this has been, and remains, a labour of love, and as the cost of production was a grave problem, I simply had no alternative; and to the suggestion which I offered in a prior Introduction, that, after all, these serial volumes might be regarded in the same light as so many catalogues of public or private collections, I have now the gratifying announcement to add, that a complete Index to the Handbook and the three Series of Collections and Notes is in preparation by Mr. Gray of Cambridge, who has most generously volunteered to do the work, and will form a separate volume, to be published by Mr. Quaritch, when it is completed.

"I have incorporated (generally with additions and corrections) in my volumes by degrees nearly the whole of the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica, Corser's Collectanea (excepting, of course, the lengthy and elaborate extracts and annotations), the British Museum Catalogue of Early English books to 1640, the Typographical Antiquities of Ames, Herbert, and Dibdin, the Chatsworth, Huth, Ashburnham, and other private cabinets, and the various publications of Haslewood, Park, Uttersen, and Collier.

"Since the Second Series came from the press in 1882, several large private libraries have been dispersed under the hammer, and all the articles previously overlooked by me have been duly taken up into my pages. I may enumerate, for example's sake, the celebrated collections of the Earl of Jersey, the Earl of Gosford, Mr. James Crossley of Manchester, Mr. Payne Collier, the Duke of Marlborough, Mr. Hartley, Mr. N. P. Simes of Horsham, Sir Richard Colt Hoare, Mr. Michael Wodhull, Sir Thomas Phillips of Middle-Hill, the Rev. J. Fuller Russell, Mr. Henry Pyne, and Professor Solly."—Preface to Second Series.

6. A General Index to Hazlitt's Bibliographical Works (1867-89). By G. J. GRAY. Edited by W. C. Hazlitt. Medium 8vo. 1893. Pp. 842.

This invaluable volume, forming Vol. 7 of the Series, will assist the student and collector in using the several volumes of which the Series now consists, and will enable him to ascertain at a glance whether and where a book, tract, or broadside is to be found. It is a labour which Mr. Gray has undertaken con amore, and reflects the highest honour on his industry, discernment, and literary zeal.

* * * All these books are now on sale by MR. QUARITCH.

7. Memoirs of William Hazlitt. With Portions of his Correspondence. Portraits after miniatures by John Hazlitt. 2 vols. 8vo. 1867.

During the last twenty years the author has been indefatigable in collecting additional information for the Life of Hazlitt, 1867, in correcting errors, and in securing all the unpublished letters which have come into the market, some of great interest, with a view to a new and improved edition.

SELECTIONS FROM PRESS OPINIONS.—

"A perusal of Mr. W. Carew Hazlitt's book is calculated to make both parents and boys thankful that they live in an age of comparative enlightenment. The work does not profess to be an exhaustive one, the object being 'to trace the sources and rise of our educational system, and to present a general view of the principles on which the groundwork of this system was laid.' In pursuing this plan the writer has succeeded in producing a book, which, though dealing with what some readers may consider rather a dry subject, is full of curious and interesting information, judiciously arranged and pleasantly conveyed."—Morning Post.

"This book contains a great deal of very curious information. After an introductory chapter on the system of teaching in the good old times when holidays were unknown and sick ointment laid the basis of all culture, an account is given of the various vocabularies, glossaries, and colloquies in use in mediæval times. Some interesting and amusing details are also given of sixteenth century schoolbooks, and Mr. Hazlitt sketches the scholastic work done by Erasmus, Colet, Linacre, Lily, Ruddiman, and others, and gives us an insight into the methods followed in such schools as St. Paul's and the Merchant Taylors' Institution. . . . One of the most interesting chapters in the volume is that on female education."—Glasgow Herald.

"... Mr. Hazlitt knows his subject, and he also knows how to write. No small praise."—St. Stephen's Review.

"... Some of Mr. Hazlitt's pages are occupied with the humorous side of school life; and as he tells a story well, these portions of the book come upon one with singular pleasure."—Antiquary.

"Mr. Hazlitt has evidently a favourite speciality in school-books. He has collected them, we should judge, with a good deal of zeal, and has acquired a really considerable amount of knowledge about them," &c.—Spectator.

FROM THE PREFACE.—

"My main object has been to trace the sources and rise of our educational system, and to present a general view of the principles on which the groundwork of this system was laid. So far as I am capable of judging, the narrative will be found to embody a good deal that is new and a good deal that ought to be interesting.

"The bias of the volume is literary, not bibliographical; but its production has involved a very considerable amount of research, not only among books which proved serviceable, but among those which yielded me no contribution to my object."

32. A Little Book for Men and Women about Life and Death. 12mo. Reeves & Turner. 1891.

"Mr. Hazlitt believes that the only chance of shaking off the ignorance in which spiritual pastors help to keep the nation is to be found in the absolute secularisation of education."—Daily Telegraph.

"This neat little volume discusses very ably and fairly several important questions."—Newcastle Daily Chronicle.

"This is a well-written attack on a few of the irrational doctrines, folly, and trumpery, that go by the name of religion."—Christian Life.

"Mr. Hazlitt sees that to overthrow the superstition which selects and endows incompetence, there must be a general lift in the quality and efficiency of education all round; and he sketches a plan or curriculum which does credit to his breadth of view."—National Reformer.

"Mr. Hazlitt is an original thinker. On the whole, he expresses himself moderately, temperately, and without needless offence. Those whose views Mr. Hazlitt voices are a growing number, and will read his little book with sympathy."—Birmingham Daily Post.

33. The Livery Companies of the City of London. Their Origin and Character, Development and Social and Political Importance. With two coloured plates and numerous illustrations. 1892. Royal 8vo. Pp. 692.

34. Tales and Legends of National Origin, or widely current in England from early times. With a Critical Introduction. 1892. 8vo. Pp. 486 + xvi.

The story of Robin Hood is here for the first time accurately related.

35. A Manual for the Collector and Amateur of Old English Plays. 1892. 4to. Pp. 284 + viii. 250 copies printed on thick paper.

36. A View of the Coinage of Continental Europe. From the Earliest Period. With a General Introduction, 250 illustrations from specimens in the Author's Cabinet, and a Numismatic Chart of Europe. [In preparation.]

Mr. Hazlitt has occupied the last 15 years in collecting the finest specimens of Continental coins both here and abroad.
